Your New Golden

Why do you want a golden retriever? _____

What are your expectations of your new puppy upon picking him/her up at 8 weeks old?

Describe your "perfect" golden retriever's personality, activity level, etc. Consider your household lifestyle when answering this. What kind of golden are you looking to add to your family? Whether it's a hiking buddy, a laid back companion, or your next dog show/ sport champion, I want to hear your hopes and dreams for this puppy.

Please take a moment to review your last response. What you've written to me is a detailed description of your ideal golden. Please take note that goldens take on average 2-3 years to fully mature mentally and physically. Your "ideal image" of that beautiful, well-mannered golden retriever is years away. If you are not willing to put in some work during the puppy stage to reach your above goal, I strongly suggest you reconsider moving forward in my application and seek to adopt an adult dog instead. I do my best to match you with the right puppy for your goals, but you have to take initiative when they come home with you. It is up to you to finish what I've started. Make sure this is something you're ready to commit to. :)

Will you crate train your puppy? _____ Where and how will your puppy spend his/her day/night?

How many hours a day will your golden be left alone as a puppy? As an adult?

If you have an emergency and are unable to get home, who will be available to go over and take care of your dog? _____

What do you think is necessary for your puppy to grow into a well-mannered adult golden retriever?

Do you have any experience training normal puppy behaviors such as barking, chewing, house training accidents, leash manners, and jumping? _____

Are you willing, if needed, to enroll your puppy in weekly obedience classes outside of your home? Where would the puppy be enrolled? Are you prepared for the additional cost of these training classes?

How much time do you think you need to devote each week to training your puppy?

Sovereignty Golden puppies need a job/purpose to remain mentally and physically healthy. What are your plans for providing this to your golden? _____

Future Plans

Goldens do best in life when they have a purpose. They were not bred to be couch potatoes. They were initially bred to work all day in the field with hunters, retrieving downed birds on land and in water. They have drive, energy, and a desire to play and please. These dogs love people and love the outdoors. They make wonderful family dogs. You may discover a whole new world of fun! Some of my best memories bonding with my dogs was during hikes and traveling.

Do you have serious intent on participating in any dog sports with your golden? If so, please list all that apply. Examples are conformation, obedience, rally, hunting, scent work, agility, SAR, barn hunt, dock diving, fast cat, tracking, therapy work, etc. Again, I do not require this, just curious.
